

Tutor Training Workshop

The April Tutor Training Workshop was a great success and Steffi, our tutor coordinator was able to spend 3 valuable days training new tutors. This is what one of the future tutors- Tina, said about the workshop: "I am used to teaching in bigger group/classroom settings. By attending the Tutor training that was facilitated by Steffi, I've learned the skills and tools that I will be needing to be able to teach on a one on one setting. Thank you for giving us the opportunity to give back to our community😊."

From the News

Fort St. John Literacy Society is proud of Adam Kelderman, our Lead Teacher who has been nominated for the Literacy award in the City of Fort St. John Community Awards. While the award went to Morgan Churchill, the Library Coordinator and great contributor to literacy activities in our community, Adam's nomination is still a success worth mentioning.

NEW Very Basic English Classes

Due to the recent demand, new class for individuals with very low English skills has been created. This regular class focuses on providing enhanced assistance and a faster learning environment to our beginner students.

If you know anyone who might benefit from this new service, please direct them to us, at Literacy Society.

Basic Computer Class level 2

Following our successful Partnership with Employment Connections, Work BC we have created a Level 2 of the Basic Computer Skill Workshop. This workshop aims to improve the email etiquette, job searching skills, business letter writing skills and Microsoft Word skills. Please call Employment Connections on 250-787-0024 to find out more or register.
